

	Historical Analysis Analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources (e.g., political cartoons, speeches, newspapers, etc.) in order to compare and contrast differing world views/philosophies about race, power, and American identity.	Geography Analyze the geography-based arguments of those who advocated and those who opposed policies of imperialism	Economics Analyze the economic arguments of those who advocated and those who opposed policies of imperialism	Political/Gov. Analyze the political arguments of those who advocated and those who opposed policies of imperialism	Social/Cultural Analyze the social/cultural arguments of those who advocated and those who opposed policies of imperialism
5	Compare the messages of two political cartoons	Argue and defend for or against imperialism in terms of geography.	Argue and defend for or against imperialism in terms of economics.	Explain in detail how America became a world power.	Argue and defend for or against imperialism in terms of culture.
4	*Teacher discretion based on quality/accuracy of "5"	*Teacher discretion based on quality/accuracy of "5"	*Teacher discretion based on quality/accuracy of "5"	*Teacher discretion based on quality/accuracy of "5"	*Teacher discretion based on quality/accuracy of "5"
3	Explain the message of the cartoon.	Identify the geographic arguments of those who wanted American Imperialism. Identify the geographic arguments of those who were against American Imperialism.	Identify the economic arguments of those who wanted American Imperialism. Identify the economic arguments of those who were against American Imperialism.	Identify the political/government arguments of those who wanted American Imperialism. Identify the political/government arguments of those who were against American Imperialism.	Identify the social/cultural arguments of those who wanted American Imperialism. Identify the social/cultural arguments of those who were against American Imperialism.
2	Identify important people or objects Explain why the people/objects are important.	Identify the locations important to American Imperialism. Explain the importance of those locations. (Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Guam, Philippines)	Identify general economic reasons why a country would want to expand.	Explain how America's foreign policy changed from George Washington to Theodore Roosevelt.	Explain how yellow journalism was used to shape public opinion.
1	Identify the topic of the political cartoon.	Define imperialism Define expansionism Define foreign policy Define isolationism	Define imperialism Define expansionism Define foreign policy Define isolationism	Define imperialism Define expansionism Define foreign policy Define isolationism	Define imperialism Define expansionism Define foreign policy Define isolationism Define yellow journalism